NPHA and GBPHLI Present

a Post-Conference Workshop:

“Valuing Difference in Approaching Change: A Strategic Leadership Skill”

Friday, October 1, 2010, 1:30 – 4:30 p.m.

Location: Stan Fulton Building, UNLV, Las Vegas (801 E. Flamingo Road)

The Great Basin Public Health Leadership Institute provides training to help leaders understand change management theory, including useful tools and techniques to successfully implement change in organizations or collaborative partnerships. This workshop utilizes an assessment tool, the Change Style Indicator®. This is an interactive workshop.

The Change Style Indicator® is a tool to:

- Understand your own behavioral approach to change and its impact on others
- Learn the value and necessity of various approaches, what each brings to the table and how to leverage perspectives
- Learn the traps of three approaches to the management of change and how they can make your team dysfunctional

This workshop is a great compliment to your ongoing leadership journey. Registration is due by Friday, September 10, 2010. Please send your registration information directly to the GBPHLI.

Cost: $25.00 (NPHA members); $20.00 (GBPHLI Scholars and Graduates)
