

Heidi Lengdorfer is an MPH candidate in epidemiology at the University of Nevada, Reno. She is also a graduate research assistant to Dr. Minggen Lu and a student intern at the Washoe County Health District. Her capstone project involves cardiovascular disease trend data analysis in Washoe County, and she has worked on other projects with the Washoe County Health District examining chronic disease data. In the future, she plans to continue her epidemiology career after graduation in May 2012.

