

Yasmine Mohamednur Biography

Yasmine Mohamednur has always had a strong interest in working with others and being involved with her community. She believes that this drive to work with others and also empower them with a sense of well-being is what directed her towards nursing and public health. Yasmine is a 2009 graduate of the Truckee Meadows Community College Nursing program. She works part-time as a Registered Nurse in the Reno area, and is pursuing her advanced degree full time. Yasmine is completing her last semester of her undergraduate nursing degree at Nevada State College in their RN-BSN program. She is currently a volunteer with the Washoe County Medical Reserve Corps, where she has participated in programs such as Project Homeless Connect, local disaster preparedness events, and community health screening events. She hopes to direct her interest for public health and nursing into a career path that enables her to assist underserved populations. Yasmine plans to attend graduate school next fall and pursue a dual degree in advanced nursing and public health.
